

IDOX Public Access for Planning

Key benefits:

- IDOX Public Access for Planning is designed to transform the way in which local planning authorities communicate with citizens, councillors and even local authority staff
- Public Access provides a tailored information delivery service thereby reducing the demand on more traditional channels such as face to face, mail, phone and even e-mail
- IDOX Public Access has been designed to be accessible to a wide range of users; it runs within a wide range of browsers and meets the AA standard specified by the W3C Web Content Accessibility Guidelines. Public Access has also been independently assessed for usability and meets the RNIB "See it Right" Guidelines
- Integrates with your existing back-office Planning system as well as your Electronic Document Management system (EDMS)
- Provides an improved level of service to stakeholders and supports the delivery of a more consistent planning service
- Reduces costs by providing an automated tailorable, pro-active delivery channel e.g. reduces costs of printing weekly lists, travel and therefore your carbon footprint
- Increases inclusiveness and involvement in the local decision-making process
- Meets Central Office of Information requirements and timetables for delivery of Inclusive web sites by adhering to Web Accessibility Guidelines and supporting multiple browsers
- Maximises the value obtained from your investment in existing related applications

IDOX Public Access for Planning is the first of a new generation of web based, citizen focussed solutions designed to provide real time tailored information to citizens, councillors and other users whilst completely integrating with the look and feel of the local authority's own web site.

IDOX Public Access for Planning is designed to integrate with the UNI-form and Plantech integrated suites of local authority land, people and property information systems.
